BEST MUM

On Mother's Day, 2007, British national television ran an intriguing story. Peggy Bush's daughter had died, so Peggy absorbed the responsibility of caring for her daughter's three children while her son-in-law worked. Then, tragically, her son-in-law also died. With both parents gone, Peggy took her three grandchildren in and raised them as if they were her own.

In a world where wrong is glamorized and the lurid is presented as appealing, we seldom hear of the good things that happen. Yet this woman's love and sacrifice were recognized, acknowledged, and honored as the nation took note of her as Britain's "Best Mum" for 2007.

This Sunday is Mother's Day in the US. Most of the efforts, sacrifices, and expressions of love our mothers have given us will not be the lead story on the news. Their recognition will be more personal. But what matters is not the scope of the appreciation but its genuineness.

On this special day, may we thank God for the mothers who have molded our hearts. As we honor them, we fulfill the truth of Proverbs 31:28, "Her children rise up and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praises her."

- Drew Crosby

FROM THE DESK OF DREW

I encourage you to remember the significance of this coming Sunday. This Sunday is perhaps the most celebrated day during the year. Or at least it should be. Mother's Day gives us the occasion to remember the painstaking, laboring and the loving that our moms have so graciously exhibited for us in their lives. I hope you will take a moment this week and think about something you can do to show your mom how special she really is. It doesn't have to be much, but if it is I'm sure she won't mind, but make it personal. Make it something that will tell her you thought about her and you thought about what you wanted to do for her so that she will feel as if she is the most special mom in the world.

May is here. Can you believe it. I can't. Let me again remind you we are just weeks away from our 3rd annual Summer Series. We are expecting great crowds this summer. That means we expect you to be here. Please don't let us down.

Mom, Your Child Might Not Remember

Your child might not remember all that you want him to remember.
Your child might not remember all that you do for him.
Your child might not remember very much of what you say.
Your child might not remember your instructions.
Your child might not remember your wishes.
Your child might not remember your special day.
But Mom remember...
Your child will never forget your place, your caring, your love, the security you provided, the hope you inspired.
Your child will always remember the special person you were.
Your child will never forget you, Mom, or your character.
