

Lessons From Caller's Spring

Judges 15:18-20

Introduction

- Most often, our blessings are followed by battles, the mountains are followed by valleys, our triumphs are followed by tests and our highs are followed by lows.
- God always allows a low when there has been a high, and as in everything He does, it is marked by a purpose. Let's look at the scene before us Judges 15:18-20 and glean three lessons that we often learn in the lows that follow our highs.

Discussion

◇ A Reminder of Samson's Humanity

- Judges 15:18

◇ A Resource for Samson's Extremity

- Judges 15:18

◇ A Reassurance in Samson's Necessity

- Ephesians 15:20

Conclusion

- I have a few "caller springs." I know that you do as well. These are the times when God at a low time in our life, proved that He is God, and not just God, but a God that is available for those who call upon Him. Thank God for those springs.
